

Wild Calling Grassland Formula Canned Dog Food

- Simple recipe with 96% wholesome buffalo meat
- A good source of protein for adult dogs
- Gluten and grain free for safe and easy digestion
- A unique and healthy alternative to traditional dog food meats

Appeal to your dog's wild side with Wild Calling Grassland Formula Canned Dog Food. This gourmet canned dog food comes packed with essential protein and other nutrients vital to your dog's wellbeing. While this is a great choice for most dogs, the fact that it is made with buffalo meat makes it a terrific alternative for dogs who dislike or are allergic to traditional meats like chicken, lamb or beef.

Buffalo meat is very rich in protein and various essential vitamins and minerals. And since this product's recipe is 96 percent buffalo meat, you don't have to worry about all the extra fillers and additives that tend to be in other kinds of dog food (and most of these other substances have either no nutritional value or can even be harmful to canines). What's the remaining 4 percent of this recipe, you wonder? It is a combination of additional nutrients, largely essential vitamin supplements.

It is also worth noting that Wild Calling Grassland Dog Food does not contain any gluten or grains, both of which can be harmful for your dog, not to mention difficult to digest.

Like all Wild Calling meals, the Grassland product is made in the United States to meet the nutritional levels set by the Association of American Feed Control Officials. Why is important to know? Many pet food companies actually import their products from places with more relaxed standards, and some have actually been found to contain unhealthy substances. So with Wild Calling, you can put your mind at ease!

Wild Calling Mountain Lake Formula Canned Dog Food

- Contains 96% duck meat
- Specifically formulated for a well-balanced, complete diet
- Contains no artificial colors, flavors or preservatives
- Free of gluten and grains

Are you tired of giving Fido the same old kibble, or does he seem to be less than enthused about his meal options? Or, maybe you've already decided that you want to find another dog food, but you're concerned about the nutritional value of all the brands out there that claim to include real meat. Well, put your concerns away— with Wild Calling Mountain Lake Formula Canned Dog Food you get a product made almost entirely out of real, wholesome meat, and your dog gets a delicious meal with unique, savory flavor.

The nutritional value of this canned dog food is, put simply, through the roof. Duck meat is an excellent source of natural, high-quality protein, which is great news for your dog because this nutrient is necessary for the maintenance of his muscles and all of his bodily tissues. Protein also provides him with energy. Duck meat also naturally contains Vitamins A and C, although in the remaining 4 percent of this recipe there are additional necessary vitamin supplements.

The recipe for Wild Calling Mountain Lake Canned Dog Food has also been carefully designed so that it doesn't contain any harmful components. For example, there are no artificial flavors, colors or preservatives. There is also no gluten or grains, which can be difficult for your dog to digest. So, rest easy, because with Wild Calling you've made the right choice!

Wild Calling Hoppy's Formula Canned Dog Food

- Specially made with 96% nutritious rabbit meat
- Made with all natural ingredients
- A good choice for well balanced nutrition
- Gluten and grain free for safety and easy digestion

Your dog will be "hopping" to get to his dish when he finds out you're serving this up for dinner! Wild Calling Hoppy's Formula Canned Dog Food adds some much needed variety into your dog's diet, along with giving him one tasty and well-balanced meal. Yes, in addition to traditional choices like chicken and beef, rabbit is a nutritious and savory option.

Because it is 96 percent wholesome rabbit meat, this chewy, canned dog food is a fantastic single source of protein for your dog. This is important because your buddy needs a lot of protein in his diet, as it forms the building blocks of all of his muscles and bodily tissues, in addition to providing him with energy (and don't be fooled—even the most lethargic dogs need protein!)

With all natural ingredients (nothing artificial or "fake" here!) and no harmful gluten or grains, Wild Calling Hoppy's Formula Dog Food is not only an excellent choice in terms of flavor, but also in terms of your pet's health and safety. Wild Calling is a manufacturer located in the United States, and all food products are domestically made and checked to meet federal regulations on pet food. Not all pet food brands follow these restrictions (especially if they have their products imported from countries with looser standards), so choosing the Wild Calling brand really will help put any concerned pet owner's mind at ease.

Wild Calling Country Best Formula Canned Dog Food

- Made with wholesome and satisfying pork
- Specially formulated to suit the nutrition needs of adult dogs
- Contains no gluten or harmful grains
- Provides essential vitamins and minerals

Let's face it— your four-legged friend is a dog, and all dogs have a strong carnivorous side. While they can eat and benefit from certain fruits and vegetables, what they really need is meat. But why stick to the typical, boring dog food that contains very little real meat, and usually boring old chicken at that? It's time to branch out.

Wild Calling Country Best Formula Canned Dog Food provides your furry friend with a healthy meal that is 96 percent pork. Yes, 96 percent real, protein-rich meat! The remaining 4 percent is composed of liver and added vitamin supplements that it would be wrong for your canine to do without. So, it is sure to satisfy your dog's carnivorous cravings while also giving her the right balance of essential vitamins, minerals and other nutrients.

Now, there is a common misconception among pet owners that pork should not be given to dogs. But this is simply not true— it is high in fat, overly processed pork that should not be fed to dogs. And much of this “harmful pork” also contains indigestible, dangerous substances for dogs like gluten and various grains. Wild Calling Country Best Canned Dog Food contains none of that. This is true, healthy pork without all of the additives that can make other brands unhealthy. In other words, it's nothing but the best here!

Wild Calling Shepherd's Choice Formula Canned Dog Food

- Contains 96% nutrient-rich lamb meat
- Balanced for everyday meals
- Contains no artificial preservatives, flavors or fillers
- Free of grain and gluten for safety and smooth digestion

With all the nutrition and goodness lamb meat provides dogs with, it's no wonder that it has really started to make its mark in the pet food world. Wild Calling Shepherd's Choice Formula Canned Dog Food is an option both canines and their two-legged owners can appreciate because of its taste and well-balanced offering of protein, vitamins and minerals.

Made right in the U.S. rather than imported from countries with fewer pet food standards, this product is fit for adult dogs at every life stage. Though they can technically be considered omnivores, canines do have a very strong carnivorous side, and therefore eating meat is what they like to do best. The 96 percent lamb portion of this meal (yes, it's just about all lamb meat here!) will appeal both to their taste buds and their inner culinary desires.

The simple recipe of this dog food is so good that it stands on its own. In fact, you will find that there are no fillers or “fake” components like artificial flavors, colors or preservatives. Wild Calling Shepherd's Choice Dog Food is also free of gluten and grain, meaning it is easier (and safer) for your dog to digest. It's just real, honest nutrition and savory taste here.

Wild Calling Pheasant Run Formula Canned Dog Food

- Made with 96% nutritious pheasant
- Domestically made, following U.S. standards
- Provides a well-rounded protein source
- Gluten and grain free for easy digestion

Here's one food that is sure to quickly bring your dog drooling to his bowl.

It has become more common in recent years to feed dogs with real meat, but most pet owners just stick to the basics like chicken and sometimes beef. But even though your buddy may seem to eat just about anything put in front of him, don't let that fool you into think he doesn't like variety. Pheasant meat, for example, has great, savory flavors and also provides your dog with protein and other essential nutrients.

Wild Calling Pheasant Run Formula Canned Dog Food is made with only the finest ingredients. With 96 percent rich pheasant meat combined with nutrient-packed liver and vitamin supplements (in addition to the vitamins already present in the meat), this soft, chewy dog food is a delicious and healthy meal for your pet. After he's had it once, it won't be surprising to see his mouth watering from then on whenever you get the can opener!

Because dogs can have great difficulty digesting gluten and grains, neither is present in Wild Calling Pheasant Run Dog Food. And as will all Wild Calling meals, this one is made domestically in the U.S. to suit U.S. pet food standards. So, you can rest easy knowing that not only have you give your dog some much needed variety with a delicious meal, but you have also made a healthy and safe selection.

Wild Calling Rainbow River Formula Canned Dog Food

- Prepared with natural, gourmet ingredients for a balanced diet
- Contains 96% real salmon
- Made in the U.S. according to U.S. regulations

- Free of gluten and grains

When it comes to pets, many people have long mistaken fish as a food that is only really suitable for cats. But the fact of the matter is that dogs not only love the taste of fish, but they also can get just as much nutrition out of it. Fish is actually a great way to add some variety into your pal's diet, and as far as your options go, salmon is among the best.

If you want a well balanced, filling meal for your dog, Wild Calling Rainbow River Formula Canned Dog Food is the answer. Made with natural, premium ingredients, it is packed full with 96 percent salmon and provides your dog with a great source of protein, omega fatty acids and essential vitamins like Vitamin A, Vitamin C and Vitamin D, among others. This recipe does not contain any gluten or grains, both of which can be harmful to your canine, not to mention difficult to digest.

Like all Wild Calling food products, the River Formula is made right in the United States following the necessary regulations. This is important information, as many other pet foods are actually imported from countries that do not have the same strict standards, and as a result various harmful and indigestible substances have been found in them.

Wild Calling Chicken Coop Formula Canned Dog Food

- Great for adult dogs of all ages
- Contains 96% chicken meat
- Includes no artificial preservatives or other ingredients
- Gluten and grain free for safety and easy digestion

Every canine needs a regular, good source of natural protein, and chicken is one of the best foods they can get it from. So, why go with a dog food that dilutes its chicken or other meat ingredients with fillers and other components with no nutritional value or flavor? Instead, give your dog what he deserves— real chicken without all the additives.

Wild Calling Chicken Coop Formula Canned Dog Food is 96 percent chicken meat, meaning it is full of healthy protein and other nutrients essential to your canine friend's wellbeing. With every bite, your dog gets a multitude of vitamins and minerals that provide him with energy, health and strength.

It is important to know that Wild Calling Chicken Coop Dog Food is made in the United States to meet American pet food restrictions. There are none of the potentially harmful or even life-threatening substances in this dog food that have been found present in certain other brands, many of which have their products imported from countries with fewer restrictions. This product is also free of gluten and grains— substances that can also be harmful to your dog, not to mention challenging for him to digest in general. There are also no artificial preservatives in this food, just natural flavor and goodness.

Wild Calling Western Plains Beef Formula Canned Dog Food

- Specially made with 96% beef
- A good source of natural protein
- Provides dogs with essential nutrients
- Contains no gluten, grain, artificial flavors or fillers

Dogs love meat, so why then do so many pet owners continue to feed their dogs with food that is little more than cereal? Satisfy your pal's natural cravings for real meat with meals that contain just that. Packed full of hearty beef Wild Calling Western Plains Beef Formula Canned Dog Food is 96 percent meat and provides your pet with much-needed protein and other nutrients.

This chewy, hearty dog food is one that your buddy will be happy to sink his teeth into, and it is one that you'll be happy to have him eat. The meat components provide him with much-needed protein, which gives him energy and keeps his muscles and other bodily tissues strong. Wild Calling Western Plains Beef Dog Food also comes with plenty of vitamins, including Vitamin A, Vitamin B, Vitamin C, Vitamin D and Vitamin E, as well as minerals like potassium and selenium yeast (the healthier, organic alternative to sodium selenite, which is a potentially dangerous substance found in many other dog foods). This product is all about natural taste and balance.

Since your dog may have a hard time digesting them, this product also does not contain any gluten or grain substances. For added safety and nutritional value, there are also no artificial flavors or fillers. This product is made in the U.S., adhering to U.S. pet food standards.

Wild Calling Rabbit Burrow Formula Canned Cat Food

- 96% nutritious rabbit meat
- Made with all natural ingredients
- Contains no artificial colors or flavors
- Gluten and grain free for easy digestion

Ever notice how so many cat foods all seem to look and smell the same? That's because they are basically the same. So, give your feline some much-needed variety in their diet with Wild Calling Rabbit Burrow Formula Canned Cat Food. That's right, this premium cat food contains delicious and nutritious rabbit meat to soothe your little carnivore's appetite for new flavors.

This canned cat food is made with all natural ingredients and is 96 percent rabbit meat. And as such, it contains no artificial colors or flavors and offers only essential nutrients for your cat's health. The proteins and healthy fat quantities found in rabbit are similar to those found in many types of fish, which as many pet owners already know, is great for cats.

With some cat foods, you have to worry about potentially dangerous fillers like grain and gluten, which can be difficult for your cat to digest. Wild Calling Rabbit Canned Cat Food contains none of that and is easy for your feline to both eat and digest properly. This cat food is also made in the United States according to national pet food regulations, so you and your pet will not have to deal with any of the possibly hazardous substances that are often found in pet food products made in other countries.

Wild Calling Cowabunga Formula Canned Cat Food

- Rich in protein
- Consists of 96% natural beef
- Free of gluten and grain for easy digestion
- Contains no artificial colors, flavors or preservatives

Unleash your little guy's carnivorous side with Wild Calling Cowabunga Formula Canned Cat Food. With beef as its primary ingredient, this soft cat food has both meaty texture and great flavor that every cat is sure to love.

Wild Calling understands that you want only the best for your cat, and therefore only the best ingredients are used in their food products. This means everything is from all natural sources, and you will find that no artificial colors, flavors or preservatives are used. Because cats' digestive systems are not naturally equipped to handle these substances, you will also find that there is also no gluten or grain in this recipe.

The Wild Calling Cowabunga Cat Food recipe is 96 percent beef and is rich in protein. For your kitty, this is great news. Protein is a necessary nutrient for every living creature, and cats are no exception. Proteins make up the building blocks of muscle and every other tissue in the body, and it is also an essential source for fuel and energy. Cats tend to burn through protein a lot faster than dogs and many other animals, so they need higher quantities of it. And beef is a fantastic natural food source to get it from.

Wild Calling Inland Waters Formula Canned Cat Food

- Specially formulated to meet feline nutritional needs
- Consists of 96% protein-rich duck
- Only contains, natural, non-artificial flavors
- Gluten and grain free for easy digestion

It can be a huge mood boost for your cat when you appeal to their wild instincts and serve them with savory meat they might otherwise be hunting in nature. And for them, waterfowl is always a tasty, nutritious delicacy.

Made with wholesome, natural ingredients like duck (it is 96 percent duck) and liver, Wild Calling Inland Waters Formula Canned Cat Food is specially formulated to meet the nutritional needs of your pet, as established by the Association of American Feed Control Officials. Chock full of flavor and essential protein, it also meets your cat's innate need for meat. While duck is a great choice for just about every feline, it is also highly a recommended alternative for any cats that may be allergic to other meats like chicken, lamb, beef or other more commonly served meat sources.

Wild Calling Inland Waters Cat Food is easy for your cat to both chew and digest. Though hearty, it is soft and chewable. It also contains no gluten or grains, both of which can prove to be harmful for your cat. As obligate carnivores, felines are not able to naturally process certain plant-based substances like these. So, this premium cat food only contains safe ingredients, most of which are animal-based. You can also rest easy because there are no artificial flavors added in.

Wild Calling Pheasant Roost Formula Canned Cat Food

- Recipe contains 96% real pheasant
- Provides a great source of protein and other nutrients
- Made in the U.S., adhering to national food standards
- Contains no gluten and grains

This is no ordinary canned cat food. Instead of bland, gray mush, your cat will be able to sink his teeth into real, savory meat with every bite. This nourishing meal is literally filled with none other than real, nutrient-rich pheasant meat.

Wild Calling Pheasant Roost Formula Canned Cat Food calls out to your furry friend's inner wild side and satisfies his carnivorous appetite. The ingredient list is a fairly short one, as 96 percent of it consists of real pheasant. This meat is an excellent source of protein for your cat, which is great because felines require more of this nutrient than a lot of other mammals, including dogs.

Wild Calling Pheasant Canned Cat Food is easy for your cat to digest, as it contains no gluten, grains or other substances that are difficult for him to process. This is important because it allows him instead to get the nutrition he really needs, like Vitamins A, B, D and E, and the aforementioned protein.

It is also worth mentioning that this product is made in the U.S., unlike many other brands, which are imported from countries that may or may not meet North American pet food standards. Dangerous and inedible substances have been found in many imported pet food products, but with Wild Calling you can rest easy. This is a hearty, wholesome meal for your cat, made with only the best ingredients.

Wild Calling Magic Meadow Formula Canned Cat Food

- Combines great flavor and texture with balanced nutrition
- Made with 96% buffalo meat
- Delivers essential vitamins and minerals
- Contains no gluten, grain or artificial ingredients

A lot of pet owners know by now that cats need meat in their diets in order to not only survive, but to thrive. But for many, this thinking doesn't extend much beyond the traditional chicken, beef and maybe some times of fish. But the truth is that cats can eat a lot more types of meat, and furthermore, they enjoy a diet with variety just about as much as their human counterparts. With Wild Calling, they get this much-craved variety.

Wild Calling Magic Meadow Formula Canned Cat Food is made with none other than wholesome, nutritious buffalo meat, and it comes with a savory natural flavor that felines love. With a recipe that is 96 percent meat, there are no artificial ingredients that can be harmful to your pet. The remaining components consist of none other than great sources of essential vitamins and minerals, such as liver, brewer's dried yeast, taurine and vitamin supplements. While delivering great taste, this meal also delivers all the nutrition your furry friend needs.

Wild Calling Magic Meadow Cat Food is also gluten and grain free, so that your cat can easily digest it. Like other Wild Calling food products, it is also made in the United States, so you can rest easy that it follows the strict North American pet food standards that help ensure the safety and health of your pet.

Wild Calling Cabin Fever Formula Canned Cat Food

- Made with protein-rich wholesome chicken
- Combines a well-balanced diet with great natural flavor
- Includes no artificial ingredients

- Free of harmful gluten and grain

Ever feel like your indoor (or even outdoor) cat may be getting cabin fever? Ward it off by giving them a delicious new meal that not only appeals to their taste buds, but packs in a load of essential vitamins and minerals as well. Wild Calling Cabin Fever Formula Canned Cat Food does just that, and it is a great selection for both indoor and outdoor cats, young and old.

Unlike many other cat food products that unfortunately only use artificial flavoring and only small portions of actual meat, Wild Calling only uses natural ingredients and really appeals to your cat's inner carnivore. Made with a recipe that is 96 percent real chicken meat, this is a tough choice to beat.

So, let Whiskers sink her teeth into this hearty, nutrition-filled canned food. Wild Calling Cabin Fever Formula is a great source of protein for him, which is great because cats burn through protein quickly and therefore need to consume it in higher quantities than many other animals. This product also does not contain any gluten or grain, which your feline would have a difficult time digesting. It is also made in the United States, meaning it adheres to U.S. standards for pet food, which are stricter than a lot of other countries.

Wild Calling Jumping Salmon Formula Canned Cat Food

- Wholesome ingredients provide essential vitamins and minerals
- Contains 96 % naturally sourced salmon protein
- Includes no artificial colors, flavors or preservatives
- Gluten and grain free for easy digestion

It's a fact of life— cats love fish! So, why not give them what they love? You'll find your feline friend "jumping" for his dinner when you serve him Wild Calling Jumping Salmon Formula Canned Cat Food. Carefully made with real salmon, this exquisite canned cat food is not only great tasting, but also great for his health.

Unlike many other cat foods that advertise themselves as "fish", this one actually contains real fish and does not contain any artificial flavors (not to mention no artificial preservatives or colors). In fact, 96 percent of the protein in this canned meal comes straight from salmon sources. This is important because protein is necessary for virtually every aspect of your cat's growth and development throughout their lifespan. In fact, cats break down protein much faster than dogs and many other mammals, so they require larger quantities of it in their diet. And for them, the best protein comes naturally from meat and fish— like salmon!

Cats are carnivores by design, so there are many food substances that their bodies have a difficult time processing. For example, gluten and grain can take a toll on their digestive systems. But in Wild Calling Jumping Salmon Cat Food, neither of these ingredients are present. What is included, however, is an array of wholesome ingredients that provide essential vitamins and minerals for your feline. It's all natural and all balanced.
